And now, sample of beer we love that we hope you'll like...

Lura Hoppin' Frog BORIS

Sometimes all you want is a refreshing, crisp, light and citrusy beer to quench your thirst after a long day of work. And sometimes you want a thick, malty, bitter-sweet dessert. I pretty much tend towards, shall we say, the darker side of things? Yum yum, Russian Imperial Stouts and Oatmeal Stouts.

What I love most about beer is the immense range of flavors you can get. Most spirits or alcoholic beverages have a great deal of range, but all of that range comes in subtle shades. With beer you'll find great extremes from one end of the flavor spectrum to another, meaning there truly is a brew for everyone's palate. Beer is a beverage made by the people (sometimes in their very homes), for all the people, and you'll never find a more sharing spirit than when in the living room of a true beer geek. Say it with me, Viva la Beer!

AI Sam Adams Noble Pils

I picked Sam Adams Noble Pils because it is arguably Sam Adams' best beer. For a Czech style pilsner, Noble Pils offers a crisp and hoppy freshness that you just cannot find in authentic Czech made pilsners. The use of the five different hop varieties makes this a light, hoppy lager perfect for warm weather.

Stephen

Rochefort 10 I really really really like this beer. A lot.

Cristen (Zink)

Widmer Milk Stout

Widmer Bros. out of Portland Oregon does great things, and they aren't very well known in Indy. They just brewed their milk stout this last winter, and I hope to see it again this year...Very well balanced and not too heavy so you can enjoy a few without filling your belly!!!

Phil

EKU 28

Well balanced, but strong. Not sweet, but just as malty as you would expect. Beautiful color. Lots of tiny bubbles. This is high quality, with exceptional richness for those who like a high octane beer without a ton of hops.

Craig

Cutters Half Court

We've made it to Spring. This is the Season for Basketball. For our Pacers to make their run. This one of the Best IPA's made and the perfect beer to accompany a basketball event. Cutters Brewery from Bloomington brew some of the best beer and their Half Court IPA is a fine example of their Valiant Brewing skill.

John

Guinness Draught

What can I say, I have a thing for the classics. Guinness is perfect all year long. It is tame, when compared to many of the craft stout selections made nowadays. But nothing beats its inspiration and pure quaffability (is that even a word?).

Trent

Rivertown Roebeling Porter This beautiful robust imperial porter has set a new standard of porters for me. It's amazing coffee flavor with vanilla finish has impressed me and I will be looking for more and more to enjoy ☺

Shilpa Bell's Oarsman Tart, refreshing, light and delicious. A perfect warm weather beer whether you're on, near or even off a boat.
